NetSuite for Industrial Supply Distributors

One System to Manage Your Industrial Supply Business

As cloud applications mature and the world becomes more connected, upgrading a business's IT environment is no longer a way to get ahead—it's a requirement to keep pace. Industrial supply distributors seeking to capitalize on new global opportunities need to unify their supply chains, inventory and order processes to deliver the right products to the right people at the right time.

Yet, to make this unified model a reality, industrial distributors must become more active players in the technology ecosystem, seeking expertise outside the industry to develop equipment connectivity, data analysis and software that are beyond their capabilities.

Industrial distributors also need an agile tech environment in order to capitalize on new business models. Whether expanding into a new channel, market or country, or fundamentally changing their business models, distributors need technology platforms to keep pace and innovate.

How Do Mismanaged Business Processes Impact the Success of Industrial Suppliers?

Leading industrial suppliers tell us that unwieldy back-office processes and outdated technology can create a number of issues that can impact long-term success, including:

- High operational costs and inefficiencies – Time and money spent on manually managing business processes instead of on meeting customer needs.
- Manual information exchange – Multiple software applications (accounting, inventory management, HR, WMS) that do not communicate in real-time.
- Lack of visibility into key business metrics – No ability to report on profitability by customers or products due to multiple systems and spreadsheets.

With all of these issues, industrial suppliers waste valuable time and energy. In today's highly competitive business environment, companies need to focus more on customer service and business strategy, and less on performing manual processes, managing multiple software systems and updating spreadsheets.

At the core of these issues impacting long-term success, we see a trend: industrial suppliers relying on spreadsheets, aging on-premise systems, point solutions or worse, a combination of all three. With NetSuite's unified model, industrial supply distributors can stop wasting time and resources managing multiple data silos while leveraging real-time visibility for insights into their business.

Successful industrial supply distributors recognize that upgrading their back-office technology is essential to capitalizing on new opportunities. Streamlining operations is crucial to success for improved business practices, inventory and order management, and data-driven business decisions. In today's fast-paced business environment, having this insight can be the difference between thriving and barely surviving.

NetSuite ERP supplies a complete and transparent platform for distributors to streamline back-office operations and eliminate siloed data.
